

Not only the violence but sex on tv during family time. My eight year old is a huge sports fan and he should be able to watch a sporting event on tv before the hour of 9pm and not get bombarded with sex and beer ads. He commented about a viagra ad that he didn't understand it. He shouldn't have to even think about it. On a SUneday afternoon we should be able to watch a game without worrying about the advertizement.
